

Chillicothe Public Library District Community Cookbook

Do you have a favorite personal or family recipe? Help us compile a cookbook that reflects our unique community!

We are especially looking for original recipes. However, if your recipe is adapted from an already-published one, please provide attribution (we don't want to infringe on any copyrights). While your recipe may include a similar list of ingredients as the original, the description of how to make the dish must be uniquely your own.

Each individual may submit up to five recipes. (Depending on the number of submissions we receive and considering the balance of the cookbook, some submissions may not be used.)

Please understand that narratives and recipes may be edited to fit the format and space available.

Please complete and submit this form to Chillicothe Public Library (430 N. Bradley Ave., Chillicothe, IL) by January 11, 2021.

By submitting your recipe(s), you are giving Chillicothe Public Library District permission to use, post, print, publish and/or distribute the recipes, narratives, and accompanying materials.

You may use additional sheets of paper to write out your responses to the following:

Narrative:

(Max. 250 words/one page) Please briefly explain why this recipe is important to you. For example: Do you have special memories about it? Was it served on particular occasions or holidays? Who first made or used this recipe? What is their relationship to you? When and where did the recipe originate? How was it handed down? Anything else you would like us to know about it?

Recipe:

List ingredients in the order they will be used in the recipe. Include measurements and any pre-cooking preparation (ex., 2 cups tart apples, peeled and cut into ½-inch cubes).

List step-by-step instructions, in order. Include oven and stove temperature, and types and sizes of any equipment used (ex., 8" cake pan). Also include any notes or observations that would be helpful to the cook, as well as which ingredients are optional, or if there are recommended substitutions for uncommon, seasonal, or expensive ingredients.

Images (optional):

Attach an image or two.* Do you have a handwritten recipe card with a lot of personality? Or an image of a family member making the recipe, or of the completed dish? Please share them with us, along with the photo credits (if possible, who took the photo and who's in the photo), and we may include it in the book!

*If you only have original copies, instead of submitting them, you can ask that they be scanned at the library.
